

Indicator Definition:

1i. Percentage of researchers who have conducted international mobility actions

Party in Charge:	Start Date:	Associated to Action:
Deputy Vice-Rectorate for International Relations	March 2020	ACT 13 Promote and recognise mobility among research staff

Way of Obtaining the Data:

Databases of the International Relations Service (SRI in Spanish) and Deputy Vice-Rector for Research and Transfer.

Unit of Measure:	Data Collection Frequency:
Percentage	Yearly

MONITORING DATE	No. EXPECTED	No. OBTAINED	COMMENTS, PROPOSALS FOR IMPROVEMENT
September 2020	20%	39%	Percentage of researchers that have participated in mobility programmes in the past 5 years.
September 2021	25%	40.2%	Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, there has not been a significant increase in mobility, despite the actions implemented
September 2022	30 %	48.2%	The number of teaching and research staff that have participated in mobility according to the databases of SRI (32) and the Vice-Rectorate for Research (25) for the year 2022.
September 2023	35 %	60.5%	The number of teaching and research staff that have participated in mobility according to SRI databases (32). The calls for mobility of the Vice-Rectorate for Research and Transfer for the year 2023 have not yet ended (the expected number is 47).
September 2024	45%	66.8%	The number of teaching and research staff that have participated in mobility according to SRI databases (43). The calls for

Indicator Definition:

1i. Percentage of researchers who have conducted international mobility actions mobility of the Vice-Rectorate for Research and Transfer for the year 2024 was 48.

September 2025	55%	65.9%	The number of teaching and research staff that have participated in mobility according to SRI databases (44). The calls for mobility of the Vice-Rectorate for Research and Transfer for the year 2024 was 37.